CBC - MAYOR, POLICE CHIEF PLEAD FOR PUBLIC'S HELP AS GUN VIOLENCE SURGES

2 killed, more injured in 12 shootings so far this year in Ottawa. In 2017 there was a total of 74 shootings, police told CBC News. Ottawa Police Chief Charles Bordeleau said the force was stepping up compliance checks for people out on bail, giving patrol officers — rather than just officers with the force's direct action response (DART) team — the authority to make sure they're abiding by their conditions. Bordeleau also said it was "frustrating" to see the same people being charged, released on bail, then arrested again. "The reality is that some individuals that are out there are very well-known to the police, and they continue to reoffend. And it's our job to keep on top of them." CBC News - Jan 26, 2018

DELAYED GUN CONTROL BILL EXPECTED THIS SPRING: GOODALE

“There have been many efforts in the past by different governments dealing with firearms safety that have foundered in the process,” the Regina Wascana MP told reporters at an event in Saskatoon. “We’re working very hard to make sure that we get a piece of legislation that actually achieves the objective, does so in a way that enhances the safety of Canadians but at the same time respects the rights of law-abiding firearms users.”

CALGARY MAN CHARGED AFTER GUNS, ANIMALS SEIZED ON PROPERTY SPEAKS OUT

A Calgary man is speaking out in his own defence after 40 animals and 20 rifles were seized from a rural home. Police say Fred Brokop faces 15 weapons-related charges. Brokop says he was looking at his rifles on Wednesday when a police tactical squad showed up. "I didn't think I was in breach of anything," Brokop said Thursday. "You're allowed to look at your guns. You're allowed to move them and display them and handle them any time you like while you're home. "You're supposed to lock the door on your house when you leave. I never had time to lock my door."

CBC GETS IT WRONG ON SUICIDE!

The CBC article focuses on firearms to the exclusion of other suicide methods, but firearms are not a widespread method for committing suicide. Not even close. Plus, shooting suicides have been declining for decades. Hanging accounts for almost half (47%) of all suicides in 2014. The number of people choosing to hang themselves has increased virtually every year at least since 2000. By Gary Mauser, Justice for Gun Owners - January 24, 2018

CBC - GO PUBLIC: 'SOME PEOPLE JUST SHOULDN'T HAVE HANDGUNS': MENTALLY ILL ALLOWED TO OWN, BUY GUNS - Number of gun suicides up: According to the latest available numbers from Statistics Canada, the number of firearm-related suicides increased from 136 in 2004 to 262 in 2014. Suicide prevention experts say limiting access to guns for those at risk of suicide is part of the solution, along with access to mental health support.

FUREY: TOP SECRET CSIS REPORTS SHED LIGHT ON TRACKING HOMEGROWN JIHADISTS

PART TWO - Prime Minister Justin Trudeau shows little concern over the threat posed by battle-hardened jihadists returning to Canada. He even argues they can be rehabilitated. But documents unearthed from CSIS – some of them marked 'top secret' – reveal alarming information about how Canada's spy agency views the jihadist threat, what they're doing to track it and their concerns about future attacks on home soil. ### PRINCE ALBERT MAYOR SEEKS STRICTER HANDGUN STORAGE RULES FOR SHOPS

"I want to see anyone who sells handguns — and only handguns, because they are the hot market for gangs — is that at night you have to have a safe and they have to be locked up every night in the safe," said Dionne. The current rules for display, which are federally enforced, state that restricted firearms may be displayed if they are unloaded and secured by a chain or metal cable that is passed through a trigger guard. There are other rules for display, but none dictate that the weapons must be kept in a safe. By Alicia Bridges - Jan 22, 2018

The Trudeau government has decided to support a private member's bill, C-262, that would require the adoption of measures to make Canadian law "consistent" with the United Nations Declaration on the Rights of Indigenous Peoples. Of course, the worst example of this was from our own prime minister, Justin Trudeau. Even after he had expressed “relief” that the hijab-hacking attack “did not take place,” Trudeau insisted it was still part of a “pattern” and should serve “as a warning sign of increased intolerance.” It’s simply not possible that something that never took place is part of any “pattern” or a sign of anything, unless you want to argue, for instance, that Orson Welles’ 1938 War of the Worlds broadcasting, while fictitious, was nonetheless a warning sign of increased threats from extraterrestrials.

ALBERTA IS ENGAGING WITH SIXTIES SCOOP SURVIVORS

It does not seem to be clear at this point whether or not a person can claim compensation from both the federal and the provincial governments, but it seems quite possible. In fact, some people have already launched lawsuits claiming damages. Conceivably, a person who qualifies might be able to claim awards from both levels of government plus suing in court for damages. What will the total compensation cost to the taxpayer be? The answer is unknown – but the bill will undoubtedly be in the billions. But, they should be careful.
