CBC - TARGETED: INSIDE THE GUN LOBBY'S FIGHT TO SAVE ASSAULT WEAPONS IN CANADA

With guns like the AR-15 in the spotlight due to high-profile mass shootings in the U.S., restrictions on semi-automatic firearms in Canada have been hotly debated. A small but powerful gun lobby may be the reason why government after government has not banned guns like the AR-15. Now, as the lobby is trying to make protecting gun ownership an election issue, Mark Kelley takes you inside the fight to save assault weapons in Canada.

LIBERALS MOVE FORWARD TO BAN ASSAULT RIFLES IN CANADA - September 20, 2019

A re-elected Liberal government will build on the important measures we passed in Bill C-71, and continue to take serious, common-sense action to crack down on gun crime:

<https://www.liberal.ca/liberals-move-forward-to-ban-assault-rifles-in-canada/>

- We will ban all military-style assault rifles, including the AR-15;
- We will work with the provinces and territories to give municipalities the ability to further restrict — or ban — handguns; and
- We will protect the rights of law-abiding hunters and pledge not to bring back the long-gun registry. Hunters do not use or need assault weapons.
- We will also take concrete steps — in partnership with our law enforcement agencies — to strengthen gun control.
- We will prevent people suspected of posing a danger to themselves or others — including their partners or kids — from possessing or acquiring new firearms;
- We will require that everyone importing ammunition must show proof of a valid firearms license; and
- We will make it harder for legal weapons to fall into the hands of criminals, by further strengthening safe-storage laws.

THE STAR - LIBERALS PLEDGE TO BAN 'ASSAULT-STYLE' FIREARMS AND LET CITIES RESTRICT HANDGUNS, TRUDEAU SAYS IN TORONTO AMID BLACKFACE SCANDAL

Price, who said he was speaking on behalf of the families of the victims of the Danforth shooting, said he's "lucky" his daughter has physically recovered since she was shot. When the families get together, he said, they all reminded of the life-changing impact of a shooting. "The impact of this is lifetime," he said. At Toronto city hall, Mayor John Tory applauded Trudeau for a "important step in the right direction," adding he wants more gun-control pledges from the Liberal leader, and the other federal leaders. If Trudeau is re-elected, Toronto will start work on enacting a citywide handgun ban while continuing to push for a nationwide ban, Tory said. DANFORTH SHOOTING VICTIMS SAY LIBERAL GUN CONTROL PLAN FALLS SHORT

Price said the victims' families welcomed Trudeau's promise to ban assault rifles. "We've been asking for that, even though that wasn't the weapon that affected us," he said. But he said the community also wants to see a federal ban on handguns. "To push that to municipalities, I don't understand that," Price said. "If Brampton says yes and Toronto says no, how is that helpful?" Mayor John Tory said Trudeau's proposals were a step in the right direction, but he also called for a federal ban on handguns. "We will not stop continuing to advocate, as overwhelmingly endorsed by Toronto city council, for a national handgun ban," Tory said. TRUDEAU UNVEILS NEW GUN CONTROL PLATFORM WHILE MEASURES FROM 2015 STILL NOT IN FORCE

- But regulations to enforce critical elements of gun-control legislation the government passed through Parliament only last June are not yet public and can't be published or put into place until after the Oct. 21 election, iPolitics has learned. COMMENT: The Trudeau government is once again proposing new gun control laws without knowing whether the previous gun laws have had any effect on reducing gun crime and gang violence. In his 1993 report to Parliament, Auditor General Denis Desautels' main point 27.3 stated: "As well, our review of the new regulations indicated that important data, needed to assess the potential benefits and future effectiveness of the regulations, were not available at the time the regulations were drafted. Because of this, we believe it is important that the measures chosen by the government be evaluated at the earliest opportunity."

LIBERALS TO BAN ASSAULT RIFLES IF RE-ELECTED

A re-elected Liberal government would ban all “military-style” assault rifles in Canada, including the AR-15, and work with the provinces and territories to give municipalities the power to restrict or ban handguns, Justin Trudeau said Friday. The Liberals also pledged on Friday to introduce legislation that would temporarily suspend firearms licenses for individuals suspected of posing a danger to themselves, or others — with the party’s press release specifically noting incidents of “gender-based and intimate partner violence” — and vowed not to bring back the long-gun registry, saying they would protect “the rights of law-abiding hunters. CSSA ALERT ELECTION 2019: LIBERALS ANNOUNCE GUN BANS - SEPTEMBER 20, 2019

Liberal leader Justin Trudeau, deflecting away from proven allegations of racism roaring through the media, announced his government would - if elected - "Ban military-style assault weapons and will conduct a buy back program of these types of firearms." He did not define what that nebulous term "military-style assault weapons" meant nor how the buy-back would be implemented. He also will allow municipalities to ban handguns within their borders. Trudeau did not describe how this would be enforced or implemented. Importantly, he did not state how constitution guarantees of equal application of the law to all Canadians would dovetail into increasing restrictions against urban firearms owners. Trudeau's announcement raises more questions than answers. The Liberals have been unable to define what an “military-style assault weapon” is, or their role within crime. More to come!

TRUDEAU PLEDGES TOUGHER GUN CONTROL AS HE TRIES TO GET CAMPAIGN BACK ON TRACK

TORONTO - Liberal Leader Justin Trudeau is promising to ban all military-style assault rifles as part of a broader gun-control plan that will also take steps towards restricting and banning handguns. Trudeau is making the pledge in Toronto as he tries to get his campaign back on track after apologizing for wearing blackface years ago. The Liberals also pledge to work with provinces and territories to empower municipalities to further restrict — or ban — handguns. Trudeau is making the announcement in the city's Greektown neighbourhood, where a gunman killed two people and wounded 13 others last year in a shooting rampage. The party says it will protect the rights of law-abiding hunters and vows not to re-establish the controversial long-gun registry that was scrapped by the previous Conservative government. The proposal also includes pledges to create a buy-back program for all legally purchased assault rifles and a two-year amnesty while the program is being set up. CSSA - LIBERALS PROMISE ONE-STOP GUN SHOPS FOR CRIMINALS

Minister Bill Blair reiterated the Liberal government's inane promise to make it easier for criminals to steal guns. "We are looking at all the measures ... that can include ... additional restrictions on where firearms can be possessed or stored within a municipality to make it far more difficult for people in those municipalities to gain access, criminally, to guns." In other words, Blair wants centralized firearm storage facilities because, in his view, if all the guns are kept in one place, no criminals will ever try to steal them. WHO WILL SAVE CANADIAN GUN RIGHTS?

With gun rights under attack worldwide, we at Firearms News hope for the best for Canadian gun owners while we fight for our rights here as well. Canadian gun owners will need to fight for their rights even if this means spending thousands of dollars and taking off work to ensure that pro-gun ownership representatives get elected. If Canadian gun owners are taking a reactionary stance whereby they will “wait to see what happens” they will lose their guns rights forever and face draconian prison sentences for non-compliance, confiscations, and other restrictions. FEDERAL PARTY LEADERS ADDRESS GUN VIOLENCE IN WAKE OF WEEKEND SHOOTING

Liberal Leader Justin Trudeau had already been on the way to Mississauga, Ont., when he briefly addressed the incident, telling reporters he would speak with the city's mayor, Bonnie Crombie, to offer support from the federal government. Crombie, a former Liberal MP, suggested Sunday that all levels of government must increase the resources and funding they direct at the problem of gun violence. Trudeau said what his party is preparing to offer is something he'll discuss in the coming weeks. Related Stories "We know there's more to do and we will be doing more," he said. TOM PARRY, CBC NEWS JUST ASKED A VERY LEADING QUESTION (September 16, 2019 1030 Mon morn press conf): "You've been talking, hinting now, about prohibiting semi-automatic weapons, taking some kind of action on that, you've even mentioned it a little bit this week....After the shooting in Mississauga, after all this talk by your govt, what's taking you so long to take some kind of action"

PM TRUDEAU RESPONSE: "I think it is important to highlight first of all that we took action immediately when we got elected. We made promises in 2015 on strengthening gun control because the reality as we're seeing in Mississauga and elsewhere around the country is that far too many communities and families are facing terrible tragedies ..because of gun violence and it is really important that a govt show leadership on that.. That's why we took "significant" measures to bring in gun control...common sense gun control over the past four years concluding with Bill 71 that was passed just this June that strengthens a number of gun control measures for Canadians. We recognize however that there is more to do and I can assure you we will be making announcements further in this campaign about the next steps we are taking to strengthen gun control in this country. But at the same time I will highlight that part of the very important choice that Canadians are going to be making in this election about whether to go backwards or keep moving forward is highlighted by the fact that Conservatives under Andrew Scheer have committed to repeal the measures that we just brought in las June to strengthen gun control. including enhanced background checks. and certainly will disagree with the measures that we're going to be announcing to be moving forward on further gun control and that's part of the choice that Canadians are facing - do we continue to move forward on keeping our communities safe, or do we go back to the Harper years.. I'm for moving forward.

WINNIPEG GUN CRIME CONTINUES TO RISE, POLICE SAY

Gun crime in Winnipeg is up 66 per cent since 2014, according to the latest report from the police service's guns and gangs unit. That's compared to a 42 per cent rise nationwide. The report also shows a steady increase in gun seizures by police. In 2016, 475 firearms connected to crime were seized compared to 778 just last year. The force expects to meet or surpass that number in 2019. "It's a potential they're coming from across the border, not only the United States but from Saskatchewan and Ontario," says Waddell. POWELL RIVER ATHLETES RETURN TRIUMPHANT FROM NATIONAL SHOOTING COMPETITIONS

Katheryn Sheldon and Ethin Dube win gold medals at Toronto contests. Dube achieved gold in sporting rifle three-position ladies junior, sporting rifle sharpshooter class and sporting rifle three-position senior ladies, as well as a bronze medal in 10-metre air rifle in the ladies junior category. The highlight of the competition, which took place August 23 to September 3 in Toronto, was “getting to shoot with a bunch of talented people,” said Dube. PEOPLE'S PARTY OF CANADA 2019 ELECTORAL PLATFORM

https://www.peoplespartyofcanada.ca/firearms_respecting_legal_firearms_owners_and_targeting_criminals

A PEOPLE'S PARTY GOVERNMENT WILL:

- Replace the Firearms Act and supporting legislation with new legislation that will prioritize effective measures to improve public safety and fight crime in Canada.
- Replace the costly and burdensome licensing system with an efficient lifetime certification system for firearms owners following mandatory vetting, safety training and testing. To avoid criminalizing legal gun owners and guarantee their property rights, this system will legalize simple possession of firearms for certified Canadians as long as they use their firearms lawfully and don't commit some other crime which would disqualify them from firearms ownership.
- Require that all firearms categories be based on function, not on looks or arbitrary political whims, and remove ineffective restrictions which unfairly target sport shooters, but have no deterrent effect on criminals.
- Mandate that all future changes to firearms regulation be completed through Parliament only. This means that neither the RCMP nor cabinet will be able to move the legal goalposts for legal firearms owners without the approval of Parliament.

COLT SUSPENDS PRODUCTION OF AR-15 FOR CIVILIAN MARKET

Colt's chief executive officer, Dennis Veilleux, says it is not permanently ending production but believes there is already an adequate supply of sporting rifles on the market. He said in a statement Thursday the company will concentrate on fulfilling military and law enforcement contracts with its rifle manufacturing. The West Hartford, Connecticut-based company has received some criticism from gun rights advocates for moving away from the civilian market. Veilleux said in the statement the company remains committed to the Second Amendment and is adapting to consumer demand. A national gun control debate has focused on access to AR-15s and other assault-style rifles because of their use in mass shootings. By Associated Press - Thursday, September 19, 2019

TRUMP WON'T BACK UNIVERSAL BACKGROUND CHECKS AS GUN TALKS CONTINUE

Over the weekend, House Speaker Nancy Pelosi and Senate Minority Leader Chuck Schumer urged President Trump to support H.R. 8, a bill that would require background checks on all gun sales with limited exceptions. CNN - THE RACIAL POLITICS OF GUN CONTROL

The heightened concern over mass shootings in schools is something Dave Chappelle satirizes in his controversial new Netflix stand-up special that highlights a harsh truth about America's relationship with gun control. One of its few moments of insight arrives during the comic's discussion of gun violence. In particular, he subtly gets at a key trend: how much the messaging on gun regulation, on the whole, has changed in recent decades. "Shooting up schools is a white kid's game. I hated school, too. It never occurred to me -- kill everybody in school? It's fing crazy," Chappelle says.

NEW ZEALANDERS FACE 5 YEARS IN JAIL FOR NOT HANDING IN BANNED FIREARMS

A France 24 report on the government's new buyback scheme showed a line of gun owners wilfully giving up their guns in response to the Christchurch massacre earlier this year. This despite the fact that the shooter himself said in his own manifesto that provoking mass gunfiscation was one of his intended goals. Mission accomplished. Since the buyback scheme began, 19,000 firearms have been handed in. Most of the guns seen being handed in looked like ordinary rifles, not AR-15s. DEMOCRATS SAY THE RED FLAG DATABASE FOR GUN CONTROL CANNOT INCLUDE GANG DATABASES, DESPITE GANGS COMMITTING 80% OF GUN MURDERS

Democrats advanced a new measure this week to encourage states to pass "red flag" laws authorizing the removal of guns and ammunition from individuals deemed as dangerous by any anonymous, unaccountable person, but it would not include the already existing lists of violent gang members. Republicans tried to add an amendment to include known gang members, but the Democrats will not permit it, despite the fact that gangs are causing most of the gun violence. The amendment failed. GALLUP: 61% OWN GUNS FOR PERSONAL PROTECTION

(CNSNews.com) -- A new survey shows that 61% of America's gun owners possess a firearm for personal safety/protection. In addition, the survey found that 48% have a "favorable" view of the National Rifle Association (NRA) and 49% have an "unfavorable" view. The poll has a margin of error of +/- 3 percentage points. In the survey, Gallup found that 32% of American adults personally own a gun. That's approximately 81 million American adults. A GUN REGISTRY IN FLORIDA IS A BAD IDEA. JUST ASK CANADA.

Canada attempted a "long gun registry" — a registry of all rifles and shotguns in the country. (They already had a handgun registry.) They estimated there were about 8 million long guns in private hands. Legislators were told that the registry would cost in the neighborhood of $119 million to implement, with $117 million of the cost covered by registration fees — so for $2 million, they'd be able to register all 8 million guns, and "it would go quickly." The law passed in 1995, with licensing starting in 1998 and all long guns were to be registered by Jan. 1, 2003. By 2000, it was obviously not going according to theory. Registrations were backlogged and riddled with errors, and costs were way over estimates. An audit in December 2002 showed that costs were going to exceed $1 billion by 2005, with an income from registration fees of only $145 million. Gun registries are sinister. They are about a loss of privacy, about a fear of freedom, but most of all, they are about confiscation. If registries have prevented a single homicide, let alone a mass murder, somebody will have to show me. By Nancy Smith - September 16, 2019

UTAH MAN ORGANIZES HUNTING PROGRAM FOR THOSE WITH PHYSICAL DISABILITIES

PROVO, UT (AP) --- A Utah man who has been in a wheelchair for more than three decades has created a pheasant hunt for people like him who need help getting into the outdoors. Clint Robinson broke his neck after being thrown off a horse at a rodeo 32 years ago. He's done his best to keep getting into the outdoors to hunt and fish, the Daily Herald in Provo reports. The event he calls "Wheelchairs in the Wild" pairs people that have physical disabilities with hunters who help them with whatever they need. Many go in off-road vehicles. "What we're trying to do is get new injured, handicapped people back out into the field, trying to get them back out, enjoying the outdoors and wildlife that's out there and show them that there's other things that they can do besides sitting in the house doing nothing," Robinson said. THE GUN EPIDEMIC: MASS VIOLENCE IN NORTH AMERICA

Reflecting on mass violence in Toronto, the Second Amendment, and the gun control debate. It is time for gun reform, even if not everyone is ready for it. By Paula Cho, MATT COHEN/WASHINGTON CITY PAPER - Sep 15, 2019

<https://themedium.ca/opinion/the-gun-epidemic-mass-violence-in-north-america/>

EXCERPT: The gun violence in the Greater Toronto Area spanning from August 2 to August 4 saw 17 people shot during 13 separate incidents. Canada has complicated but stringent gun laws vis-à-vis our neighbors to the south. Our federal regulation divides firearms into categories with requirements including registration, permits, training courses, and exams. First-time owners must fill out a survey detailing their mental health and criminal record. There is a background check and mandatory 28-day waiting period before they receive their license. Canada also has no constitutional provision underwriting the right to bear arms. All of this, however, was not enough to prevent our own version of mass violence.

GOOD GUYS WITH GUNS ARE SAFER THAN LEFTIST GUN CONTROL

The left refuses to blame shooters in mass shooting incidents. They insist that the gun is evil or there are not enough regulations to stop a criminal so "we must do something" – ignoring that the very spirit of a criminal is they break laws. I recently read an article from the far-left online publication Salon. The writer's main gripe was the National Rifle Association's saying, "the only way to stop a bad guy with a gun is a good guy with a gun." Lucian K. Truscott IV, the author, attempted to make the case that there are too many guns and used several examples in an attempt to prove his point. SPIKE IN RECENT GUN CRIMES SHOWS GUN-CONTROL LAWS FAILING IN THE U.K.

Great Britain is home to some of the world toughest gun-control measures, yet a rising spate of recent gun crimes shows that these restrictions are failing to stop criminals and other dishonest citizens from getting their hands on firearms. Gun-control rules are clearly not in control of this situation—which can serve as a lesson for U.S. gun-control advocates seeking to alter our country’s laws with the hazy goal of stopping gun crime. by Zita Ballinger Fletcher - Sunday, September 15, 2019 <https://www.americas1stfreedom.org/articles/2019/9/15/spike-in-recent-gun-crimes-shows-gun-control-laws-failing-in-the-uk/>

GUN CONTROL MEASURES DON'T WORK

An estimated 20,000 gun laws on the books haven't prevented shootings. Until the anti-gun crowd acknowledges and accepts the fact that it's an individual committing a crime and not an object, there will never be a consensus from the pro-gun and pro-Constitutional side. Criminals will never comply. Can you understand that? Show me how any of the above will stop or prevent more shootings. THE RED FLAG COUNCIL

The "Red Flag Council" will be a national group, a step beyond the National Rifle Association or the Second Amendment Foundation, or even Gun Owners of America or my _Alma Mater_, Jews for the Preservation of Firearms Ownership, that publicly lists politicians, bureaucrats, and police by name (not the same as "doxing" them), all those who have taken an Oath of Office, to "uphold and defend" the Constitution -- and betrayed it. WHICH GUN CONTROL POLICIES COULD PREVENT MASS SHOOTINGS, ACCORDING TO A GUN VIOLENCE EXPERT

- However, Garen Wintemute, the director of the Violence Prevention Research Program at University of California, Davis, said that it will take more than universal background checks and extreme risk protection orders to prevent future mass shootings. The VPRP conducts research that focuses "on the nature and causes and consequences of firearm violence," he said. Wintemute told Business Insider he believes it isn't about one policy taking precedence over the other; rather, it is all of these policies working together in tandem that could have maximum impact on preventing future mass shootings. "If I had to put one at the top of the list — with an understanding that we're going to try and work our way down the list — at the top, for me, would be requiring a background check for all purchases and firearms," Wintemute said, "At the same time, doing what's necessary to make that policy as effective as possible. NEWSWEEK - NEW ZEALAND INTRODUCES FLURRY OF NEW GUN RESTRICTIONS SIX MONTHS AFTER CHRISTCHURCH

The Bill includes:

- The creation of a firearms registry to enable the monitoring and tracking of every firearm legally held in New Zealand
- Changing the length of the time of issue for a firearms licence from 10 years to five years
- The creation of a licensing regime for shooting clubs and ranges
- A requirement to be a licence holder in order to purchase and hold firearm parts, magazines, and ammunition
- Strengthening and tightening the rules in the licensing regimes for individuals and dealers
- Conditions on firearms licences and changes to endorsements
- Updated and new offences and penalties
- Provisions to enable health practitioners to notify Police if they have concerns about a licence firearms owner's health or wellbeing
- New Mechanisms and options for dealing with firearm licence holders who breach conditions of the Act or Regulation
- Strengthening regulatory oversight on importation and sales
- Changes to the cost recovery regime that will enable fees to be set out in regulations for a range of regulatory services
