GUNTER: YET ANOTHER PROBLEM EMERGES IN THE LIBERAL FIREARMS PLAN

It is standard in Canada if you have been convicted of a violent crime, are a registered sex offender, have ever been designated a dangerous offender, are on probation or parole, are subject to a restraining order or peace bond, have been ordered deported or barred from hunting, you lose your ability to buy or possess guns. That makes sense. But as Young points out, the federal government and the RCMP make no effort to keep track of people who have been banned. One of the hoops for legit owners is they report to police any change of address within 30 days or face up to two years in prison. By Lorne Gunter, Toronto Sun - April 18, 2020

TRUDEAU CABINET ADDS U.S. BORDER PATROL, CUSTOMS AND IMMIGRATION OFFICERS TO FIREARMS EXEMPTION LIST

U.S. President Donald Trump drew a hot response from Canada when he aired a desire to plant soldiers near the Canada-U.S. border late last month. But, only two days earlier, Prime Minister Justin Trudeau's cabinet quietly passed an order that renewed and radically expanded a border-related security agreement between the two countries that has been in place since 2004. The reciprocal arrangement, enforced entirely through federal cabinet orders on Canada's side and now renewed four times since it first took effect, has allowed armed U.S. law enforcement officers exemption from Canada's firearm transportation laws if they pass through Canadian territory to reach U.S. communities difficult to reach south of the border because of rough terrain and other limitations. The RCMP and Canadian provincial and municipal police services have the same permissions on the U.S. side in similar terrain circumstances. FORMER MANITOBA PRINCIPAL SENTENCED TO LIFE IN PRISON FOR VIGILANTE KILLINGS OF TWO DRUG DEALERS

- The former principal acknowledged in court that he was extremely drunk when he went to the home. He said his goal was to confront and scare Brown and Chevrefils over their drug dealing. "He was distressed as two of his daughters were addicted to drugs and he felt that the RCMP had not done anything to curb the action of drug dealers in the area," Keyser wrote in her judgment delivered April 2. Meanwhile, the head of firearms owners advocacy group the Canadian Shooting Sports Association (CSSA) says gun sales should not be a worry but something else might be. MATRIX SAVAGE GATHERGOOD AND THE SALMON ARM CHURCH OF CHRIST SHOOTING

At approximately 10:30 am on April 14, 2019, Matrix Savage Gathergood entered the Salmon Arm Church of Christ armed with a rifle. He shot two people, killing one and sending the other to the emergency ward. Parishioners, including the dead man's son, immediately fought the killer to the ground and disarmed him. RCMP seized the rifle as soon as they arrived on scene. Matrix Gathergood faces charges of first-degree murder, aggravated assault and disguise with the intent to commit an indictable offence in the slaying of 78-year-old Gordon Parmenter, a church elder. Published April 13, 2020 by Christopher di Armani. This is part of my ongoing series on Canadian Mass Murders. While this is technically not a mass shooting, I'm including it in this collection because it took place in a church and the death toll could easily have been far higher. <https://christopherdiarmani.com/13722/crime/canadian-mass-murders/salmon-arm-church-of-christ-shooting/>

CANADA POISED TO EXPORT MORE ARMS AFTER ENDORSING UN CALL FOR GLOBAL CEASEFIRE

On April 10, CBC reported that "Canada 'fully supports' an appeal from the United Nations for an immediate global ceasefire so the world can fight the coronavirus pandemic together. On Friday, Foreign Affairs Minister François-Philippe Champagne and International Development Minister Karina Gould issued a statement, backing the UN leader's concerns." And yet the day before, Champagne and Finance Minister Bill Morneau "announced the suspension of approval of new [arms export] permits for Saudi Arabia is now lifted," The Globe and Mail reported. B.C. HUNTING LICENCE SALES NEARLY DOUBLE DURING COVID-19 PANDEMIC

With bear hunting season already open April 1 and turkey season starting April 15, Jesse Zeman, director of fish and wildlife restoration with the BC Wildlife Federation, said more hunters are exploring the outdoors, and they're hunting for black bears in the Interior. The conservation organization has seen a significant increase in hunting licenses and tags for all species overall, Zeman said. B.C. hunting licence sales have nearly doubled from the previous year. There were 9,073 sales in January, February and March in 2019 compared to 2020 where the conservation organization has seen 17,758 sales during that same time period. Black bear licence sales have more than doubled, spiking from 1,886 in 2019 to 4,803 this year. "It seems like a lot more people are picking it up," Zeman said, adding he expects to see more fishing licenses sold than in previous years once the ice clears off of all the lakes. So far, only 25,264 fishing licences have been sold, while 2019 had 26,687, but these are only comparing January, February and March sales for each year. NFA GETS CPC LEADERSHIP CANDIDATES TO SOUND OFF ON FIREARM POLICY

The issue of firearms rights and regulations is fast becoming one of the crucial topics in the Conservative leadership race. The National Firearms Association (NFA) has been interviewing CPC leadership candidates to get some clarity on where they stand on firearms issues and policies. NFA President Sheldon Clare explained to The National Telegraph, "The NFA has been heavily engaged in lobbying efforts for decades. We invested heavily in the federal election, as reported to Elections Canada. Our recent survey of CPC leadership candidates has brought firearms rights issues to the forefront." On March 26th, the NFA released surveys they had conducted with the verified candidates asking them questions about their stance on various firearms issues, including the removal of current firearm regulations. This effort has injected awareness of firearms issues into the Conservative leadership race; firearms regulation is sometimes viewed as a background issue in Canadian politics. NOVA SCOTIA: SHOOTER WHO WENT ON RUN 'IN MOCK COP CAR AND WEARING POLICE UNIFORM' AFTER SHOOTING 'SEVERAL VICTIMS' CAUGHT BY COPS

CANADIAN police caught an active shooter who opened fire in Nova Scotia before going on the run in a fake cop car dressed as an officer. Royal Canadian Mounted Police warned residents in the rural community of Portapique to "stay inside your homes and lock your doors" after 51-year-old Gabriel Wortman's shooting rampage. "Gabriel Wortman, suspect in active shooter investigation, is now in custody," RCMP tweeted shortly after 10.30 am. "More information will be released when available. SCI LEADS ENGAGEMENT WITH GOVERNORS ON HUNTING & FISHING SEASONS

On March 31, SCI President Steve Skold sent a formal letter to all 50 governors urging them to support hunting and fishing seasons while taking the necessary precautions to keep their residents safe and healthy while also highlighting the economic impact that sportsmen and women have in each state. His letters emphasized the mentally restorative benefits of spending time in nature during this stressful time as well. SCI also joined a long list of other hunting and conservation groups in submitting a letter to all 50 governors through America's Wildlife Conservation Partners.

STUDY: RED FLAG LAWS REDUCE GUN SUICIDE RATES IN OLDER ADULTS

The study by UCLA researchers, published earlier this month in the journal BMC Public Health, relied on state-level data on gun laws and suicides from 2012 to 2016. It found that extreme risk protection order laws — also known as “red flag laws” — were associated with a 2.5% decrease in firearm-related suicide among those age 65 and older and a 2.4% decrease in firearm suicides for those aged 55-64. It also was responsible for a drop in overall suicides in that age group, though gun laws were not found to affect non-firearm suicides. BIDEN’S #GUNVOTE PROBLEM ~ VIDEO

The former “Veep” gladly takes assistance from gun control groups like the billionaire Bloomberg-funded Everytown for Gun Safety and Brady Campaign, all while touting his “courageous” support for the 1994 Assault Weapons Ban. That legislation did not reduce criminal misuse of firearms. He calls for banning “semiautomatic assault weapons,” but pillories a rifle for cosmetic features that have nothing to do with how the gun operates. He purposely conflates semiautomatic firearms with the military’s automatic firearms to scare those who don’t know the difference. That’s why NSSF has its #GUNVOTE voter education campaign. It provides the candidate’s real words on where they stand on issues surrounding lawful firearm owners. It also helps voters to register to vote, to get educated on the candidates’ position on guns, and to not risk their rights on election day by going to the polls to #GUNVOTE.

WELCOME, NEW GUN OWNERS!

According an estimate from Small Arms Analytics, Americans acquired 2,583,238 firearms in March. That’s an increase of more than 85% from March 2019. The FBI’s National Instant Criminal Background Check System processed 3,740,688, a single-month record that overwhelmed the system, forcing many buyers to wait days instead of minutes for an approval. Not only did March set a record, first-quarter inquiries were on pace to set a record even before the pandemic. By William Connell Cawthon Jr. - Apr 13, 2020

EXCERPT: In 2018, an estimated 18,921 people were treated for unintentional gunshot injuries in U.S. emergency rooms. Of those, 8,769 had wounds that required hospitalization or transfer to another facility. 458 Americans died from accidental gunshots. That’s slightly above average for the 2001 to 2018 period, but it’s down nearly 12% from its peak in 2016. Before anyone gets hysterical, the same numbers for cutting/piercing accidents look like this: Number of people coming to emergency rooms with injuries 1,618,125; injuries requiring hospitalization totaled 47,452; and 147 people died from their injuries.

SINGAPORE - MAN ARRESTED FOR RASH ACT AND POSSESSION OF 18 AIRSOFT GUNS

A 47-year-old man was arrested last Thursday (April 9), after 18 airsoft guns - replica toy weapons that shoot non-metallic projectiles - were found in his possession. He was detained after the Singapore Police Force investigated a case in which a victim was hit by a plastic pellet in Lorong Melayu, near Kembangan, at around 7.30pm last Tuesday. All 18 replica guns - of varying sizes and makes - as well as pellets were seized after officers from the Bedok Police Division identified the man and tracked him down. EXCERPT: This week, Privy Council president Dominic LeBlanc said the federal government is contemplating a new law to fight pandemic misinformation by cracking down on the internet. It's another case of misdiagnosing the problem and prescribing the wrong solution. The question the government should be asking is: Why are people going to alternative sources to get information? I'll tell you why. Reason No. 1 is because they aren't getting correct information from official sources. Need some examples? There is no evidence of human to human transmission. There is no need to close borders. There is no need to wear masks. The death rate from the virus is 3.4 per cent. Computer models show up to 70 per cent of Canadians will get infected. All of this information came from either the World Health Organization, chief public health officer Dr. Theresa Tam or Health Minister Patty Hajdu. It all turned out to be untrue. There is human to human transmission. Evidence from Taiwan, South Korea, Hong Kong and Singapore shows that border closures and masks are the best way to prevent community spread. The death rates in initial computer modelling have proven to be wildly overstated

LORNE GUNTER ON COVID-19: IT'S ENCOURAGING THAT MORE ALBERTANS RECOVERED THAN GOT SICK FROM CORONAVIRUS IN SUNDAY'S NUMBERS - On Easter Sunday, the number of Albertans who have gotten over COVID-19 (823) exceeded the number who were still infected (781) for the first time. That is good news, indeed. Instead of the 200 hospitalizations expected by this time, there were just 44 COVID-19 patients in Alberta hospitals as of Sunday and just 14 in ICUs. CBC - FEDERAL GOVERNMENT OPEN TO NEW LAW TO FIGHT PANDEMIC MISINFORMATION

It's one of several measures the government is considering to counter fake news about the virus online
By Elizabeth Thompson · CBC News · Posted: Apr 15, 2020 <https://www.cbc.ca/news/politics/covid-misinformation-disinformation-law-1.5532325>

EXCERPT: Opposition Leader Andrew Scheer criticized the idea of using legislation to curb misinformation. "We're concerned when this government starts talking about free speech issues," Scheer told reporters at a news conference Thursday. "They've got a terrible history over the past few years of proposing ideas that would infringe upon free speech. Any time this government starts talking about regulating what people can say and not say, we start off the conversation with a great deal of healthy skepticism," Scheer added, pointing out that the government has changed its pandemic messaging on travel restrictions and the use of masks. The comments come as governments around the world struggle to curb dangerous misinformation and disinformation circulating about the COVID-19 pandemic.
